

Students Counterpoint (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Students CounterpointSome twenty years ago, an interesting series of articles entitled The Logic of Counterpoint, appeared from the pen of Dr. E. H. Turpin, in the columns of The Musical Standard - at that time the official organ of the (now Royal) College of Organists. The main object of these articles was to show that the Art of Counterpoint stands in exactly the same relation to Musicians in particular, as the Art of Logic stands to Mankind in general. This analogy has for many years appealed to me with considerable fascination; but since the issue of the first edition of my Students Counterpoint, Dr. Turpin has kindly drawn my attention to Archbishop Whatelys Elements of Logic. A reflective perusal of that standard work has more than ever convinced me, that the many points of likeness which exist between the Arts of Logic and Counterpoint are of so close a character, that musicians - who set any value upon their Art as supplying one of the mind-training processes of modern education - cannot afford to disregard so remarkable an analogy.
