

Project Be: Your Journal, Your Journey

Project Be is about you. This journal was created to encourage you to reflect, reconnect with yourself and others, find joy, and take action. If you would like to discover more about who you are and what you want in your life, this journal is for you. Through the beautifully illustrated, thought-provoking questions and actions in this journal, you will explore your habits, core values, feelings, beliefs, choices, physical environment, life patterns, and relationships with the people around you in order to better understand your genuine self and build a life and career that matches who you are. This journal will guide you to more clearly envision the life you want, make conscious choices, and identify small steps that you can take to actively write the story of your life. You are the most important project that you will ever undertake. Take action today. Be who you are. And create a life that you will love.
